Ulan's Wide Array Of Training Options

Ulan Nutritional Systems, Inc.'s (UNS) training center in Clearwater, FL, teaches health practitioners to successfully incorporate nutrition into their practice. The various training programs offered through UNS are all based on Dr. Freddie Ulan's experience in building his own successful nutritional practice in Glen Falls, NY.

Incorporated in 2005, UNS has grown to a staff of over 45 dedicated employees. Five of which are doctors of chiropractic and experts in the field of nutrition. Dr. Ulan founded UNS with the initial intention to teach other chiropractors his technique, called Nutrition Response Testing™. His Nutrition Response Testing workshops are now given in over 25 major cities in the U. S. each year. The skills that health care providers learn in these workshops are then developed further through the Intermediate Nutrition Response Testing workshop, available only in Clearwater, FL.

In addition to the tools offered via the Intermediate workshop, practitioners can also gain invaluable patient management skills through UNS' Patient Management workshop. This workshop continues to be a mainstay of the training lineup. Its attendees learn how incorporate a highly profitable and effective nutrition component to their practice.

Dr. Ulan's vision of an army of clinical masters found its realization in the creation of his Advanced Clinical Training program (ACT), a 150-hour postgraduate-level course that shares everything that he and his New York clinic partner, Dr. Lester Bryman, evolved over decades of experience dealing with nutritional patients. Bryman, the Dean of the ACT program, is the 2008 recipient of the prestigious Standard Process lifetime achievement award. Since the first ACT graduation in 2006, UNS has graduated over 200 master nutritionists.

In addition to its wide array of training options, UNS also provides test kits, lasers, exclusive nutritional products, equipment and an entire library of DVD's by Dr. Ulan. All of which were created with the intention of helping new and existing nutrition practitioners to augment their practices.
